

ASIAN-COUNSEL

12:20:24 :: 20 July 2009

Home

About Us

News

Moves

Deals

Features

Congress & Seminars

Publications

Professional Opportunities Search

Contact us

Asian-Counsel Weekly Briefing

Get the latest Deals, News and Moves free and direct every week.

Please click here to sign up.

Country Files

- China
- Hong Kong, China
- Indonesia
- Malaysia
- Middle East
- Singapore
- South Korea
- Thailand
- Vietnam

Asian In-House Handbook 2009

- Introduction
- Australia
- China
- Hong Kong
- India
- Indonesia
- Japan
- Malaysia
- Philippines

News

US firm tackles Shanghai

Diaz Reus & Targ LLP, a Miami-based international litigation and transaction law firm, has announced the opening of a full-service office in Shanghai to be managed by partners Robert Q. Lee and Adam Ehrlich. The firm also operates offices in Frankfurt, Dubai and Caracas, and has affiliates in Bogota and Sao Paulo. The firm intends to use the office to assist its multinational and local clients in realising their growth plans. According to Lee, "China's growth rate and expanding middle class are reflective of the country's continuing integration into the global economy."

Professional Opportunities